

We Come to Your Table - Lauren Kamal (for Essentials Red, Fall 2008)

D                      G                      A
Praise God, our sins are washed away!

                                 D                      G
Come join the feast and celebrate

Our resurrected life

D                      G                      A
And as our joy begins to rise

                                 D                      G
We'll break the bread and share the wine,

Commemorate your sacrifice

G
You've broken down the walls

                                 D                      A
                                 that once divided

G
You've torn apart the chains

                                 D                      A
                                 that used to bind us

G
You've cast away our shame

                                 D                      A                      Em and now united as one

                                 G                      A
We come to your table
